Myriam Alvarez

Myriam Alvarez was born in Buenos Aires, Argentina. In 1996, she moved to New York City, where she worked for 12 years as a foreign correspondent for an international news agency, at the United Nations Headquarters. She has over 20 years of experience as a journalist and freelance writer. In 2014 she published her first book, a historical novel titled Flowers in the Dust. Her second book, Worlds Apart, will be published this year. She is currently working on her third novel.

Myriam is a graduate of the University of Palermo, with a degree in Communications. She continued her education at New York University (NYU) specializing in international politics and media.

She lives in New Jersey with her husband, two sons and her dog Tina.

For more information go to www.myriamalvarez.com