Religions of the World

Judaism

Monday, April 13 - 10 am to 1 pm

This lecture will be presented by Dr. Jonathan Golden, Director of the Center on Religion, Culture, and Conflict at Drew University. He runs the Drew Institute on Religion and Conflict Transformation, which brings together young, emerging leaders of different faiths from around the world for a seminar on leadership, peacebuilding, and conflict resolution. In this class, he will examine the core tenets, practices and beliefs of Judaism. He will conduct a brief historical survey of the roots and evolution of Judaism over time, including its influence and interactions with other “Abrahamic” faiths. Finally, he will examine Judaism in the modern world, including the intriguing question of Jewish identity.

Islam

Monday, April 20 - 10 am to 1 pm

This lecture will also be presented by Dr. Golden. In this class he will examine the core tenets, practices and beliefs of Islam. Dr. Golden will conduct a brief historical survey of the roots, evolution, and expansion of Islam. Finally, he will examine Islam in the modern world, its internal dynamics within the “Muslim World” and in the West.

Confucianism

Tuesday, April 28 - 10 am to 1 pm

Dr. Hyo-Dong Lee, a native of South Korea with a Ph.D. from Vanderbilt University, is an Associate Professor of Theology and Philosophy at Drew University. Professor Lee’s research and teaching interests include comparative theology and comparative philosophy of religion, with a focus on the dialogue between the Christian/Western theology and Northeast Asian religious thought. In this lecture, Professor Lee will touch on the history, doctrine, events, personalities, and writings of Confucianism.
